THE WISH.

WOu'd heaven propitious with my wiſh comply,
Thus wou'd I chuſe to live, and thus to die:
Freed from dependence, and the toils of trade,
My ſeat ſhou'd riſe amid the rural ſhade;
Where aged oaks at equal diſtance riſe,
Lift high their waving heads, and fan the skies;
Or ruſtling ſolemn with the evening breeze,
With ſacred ſound and awful horror pleaſe:
Thro' theſe green walks, rich in the cooling gale,
And vernal ſhow'r, ſhou'd ope the far ſtretch'd vale;
Whilſt the kind Naiad from the neighb'ring hill
Pours from her copious urn the limpid rill:
Edg'd by a grove, ſhou'd roll the gentle flood,
And its clear boſom wave th' inverted wood;
Gay thro' the ſtreams the flow'rs reflected ſpread,
In milder glory, and in ſofter ſhade,
Thence thro' my walks, in vary'd forms ſhou'd ſtray,
Glide a canal, or in a fountain play;
Deſcend the glaſſy ſlope with ſilent fall,
And glitter to the ſight a cryſtal wall;
Or o'er the rock, by nature's chiſſel made,
Bound, foam, and thunder in a loud caſcade;
A deep vaſt concave drinks the roaring flood,
And ſtreams it gently to the thirſty wood.
There, where the trees form high th' embow'ring ſhade,
For ſerious thought and contemplation made,
My favourite dome ſhou'd raiſe its tow'ring head,
Grac'd with the labours of the famous dead:
Here from the world, and all its cares retir'd,
By wiſdom, and the love of truth inſpir'd,
I'd oft retreat:--- here Pope in tuneful lay
Shou'd ſacred truths in ſofteſt ſound convey:
Here Thompſon's page to all the muſes dear,
With juſt deſcription charm the raviſh'd ear;
With him I'd nature's every ſhape admire,
Glow at her charms, and at her beauty fire.
Nature, ſtill eaſy to be underſtood!
Supremely fair! and ſovereignly good!
Still ſmiles the God upon thy lovely face,
With boundleſs beauty and thro' endleſs ſpace.
On Newton's wing I'd dare ſublimer flight,
From ſtar to ſtar direct my trembling ſight;
View worlds round worlds, ſyſtems round ſyſtems turn,
Orbs that now freeze, and now intenſely burn:
Harmonick all! nor ſhall my wand'ring ſoul
Forget t' adore the Genius of the whole,
Who can with equal eaſe theſe worlds compoſe,
As blue the violet, or as bluſh the roſe.
Now moral truth in artleſs ſplendor bright.
And all enliv'ning opens to my ſight;
In Woolaſton ſhe darts reſiſtleſs rays,
In ſocial Balguy every charm diſplays;
By piercing Clarke unveil'd, her lovely face
Courts with a ſmile and wears a winning grace:
Shews us the road to happineſs and reſt,
And but commands us to be truly bleſt;
Taught by his page, we pitying view the fool,
To pleaſe his God, who ſcorns his darling rule:
Reaſon thy light divine, and God belov'd!
His every action by thy law approv'd:
Theſe ſhou'd inſtruct me, and my ſoul improve,
And lift me nearer to the God I love;
Thou ſole Supreme! alike by whoſe controul
The riv'let murmurs, and the thunders roll,
Teach me thyſelf! deign to direct my choice,
Teach me to know thy never ſilent voice;
Safe by thy light, to ſteer thro' giddy youth,
To life's laſt verge along the ſtream of truth;
From reaſon's rules, O! never let me ſtray,
Nor for blind fancy leave her rightful ſway;
By her approv'd, peace fills the human breaſt,
Amidſt the ſtorms of life ſecurely bleſt;
No furious zeal her ſocial ſons inſpire,
She burns a ſteady, bright, and laſting fire.
Yet not by books or thoughts ſevere engroſt,
Wou'd I to every other joy be loſt;
The morn ſhou'd ſee me, at her earlieſt dawn,
Cheer the gay dogs along the dew-ſpread lawn;
Impel the chace, purſue the flying hare,
And drink deep cooling draughts of lifeful air:
This life redoubles, hence the ſtudious find
Strength to the nerves and vigour to the mind,
Return with keener taſte the joys to prove
Of calm philoſophy and bliſsful love;
This bids the blood in briſker currents flow,
Beat ſtrong the heart, and every fibre glow.
But far remov'd be thoſe, who count for joys,
The midnight revel and the brutal noiſe;
The impious jeſt, pain to the virtuous ear,
Nor tale obſcene, nor ſenſeleſs pun be here;
My houſe ſhou'd worthier entertainment know,
Approv'd by virtue every thought ſhou'd flow;
Not virtue dreſt to fright you from her arms,
But all inviting, in gay pleaſure's charms,
That nor forbids, unbending to the ſoul,
The glaſs to ſparkle, or to ſwell the bowl;
The temperate jeſt with ſocial freedom crown'd,
The ſoothing ſong, or muſick's charming ſound;
With juſt reſtraint to pleaſe each ſenſe allows,
And only bids us what is pain refuſe.
To fill my joys and crown the ſweets of life,
Grant me, kind heaven, a fair and virtuous wife.
Like dear Amanda, who to blooming youth,
And brighteſt beauty, adds engaging truth;
Witty, good-natur'd, ever prompt to pleaſe,
To think with judgment, and converſe with eaſe;
Me ſhe ſhou'd love, with as ſincere deſire,
As angels feel and heavenly forms inſpire;
So pleas'd to pleaſe, and to diſſent ſo loth,
One ſoul ſhou'd ſeem to animate us both;
With her converſing every care wou'd fly,
And life be more than life when ſhe was by.
If heav'n ſo deign'd, to crown the nuptial joys,
A brace of beauteous girls and lovely boys,

Should

Should ſmile around, and in each infant face,
More ſoft, more bright, bloom the parental grace;
Nor than their faces, be their minds leſs fair,
Theſe to adorn how pleaſing is the care;
To teach, how dear, delighting is the taſk,
When infant innocence and nature aſk;
To ſee the grateful ſoil not vain impreſt,
And virtue ripen in the youthful breaſt;
What joy to view it open all humane,
Delight to bleſs and melt at others pain,
Benevolent and kind! thus let me live,
And ever grateful thus thy gift receive,
All bounteous God! nor for myſelf alone
Let me thus live, but to the poor well known;
Be my large ſtores; for them ſhou'd freely bleed
The fatted ox, and ſpring the bearded ſeed;
Their loins ſhou'd bleſs me for the warming fleece,
Their pleaded cauſe, their property and peace.
Thus bleſt, unenvy'd, and to courts unknown,
The vale of life I'd glide ſerenely down;
With grateful thanks reſign my lateſt breath,
Nor ſlow, nor painful paſs the gulph of death.

Newcaſtle, Jan. 24. NORTHUMBRIUS.

LONDON, March 21.

They write from Petersbourg, that Count d'Oſtein, Miniſter of the Emperor, and Col. de Berenclan, continue to have frequent Conferences with the Miniſters of the Empreſs upon the Operations of the enſuing Campaign. The Ambaſſador of Perſia ſtill aſſures the Ruſſian Miniſters, that the Schach Nadir his Maſter will never ratify the Treaty concluded at Conſtantinople, nor ever make Peace with the Porte, without including Ruſſia. The Empreſs has reſolv'd to execute the Project form'd heretofore by the late Emperor Peter, to reduce the extravagant Number of Abbeys and Monks which there are in that Monarchy, and to employ their Revenues to the Maintenance of Schools and other Eſtabliſhments that may be uſeful to civil Society. Col. Berenclan will return in ſome few Days to Vienna, to carry thither the Reſult of the Conferences which he has had with the Miniſters of this Court.

From Warſaw, that Letters from the Frontiers of Turkey ſay, that the Ottomans have march'd a great Part of their Troops towards Oczakow, in order to cover that Place, and hinder the Ruſſians from undertaking the Siege thereof. They add, that the Tartars continue to make Excurſions into Ukrania.

From Madrid, that the Regiments return'd from Italy are recruiting with diligence: That his Catholick Majeſty intends to appoint a chief Miniſter for Military Affairs, and 'tis thought the Duke of Montemar will be inveſted with that Authority. It is reported that the Count Montijo will obtain an high Station.

That the Change of Affairs in France, occaſion'd by the Diſgrace of M. Chauvelin, is ſenſibly felt at that Court.

That an Anſwer is impatiently expected from the Court of Portugal, to the laſt Propoſals offer'd for an Accommodation.

That Ships are taken up at Barcelona to tranſport Troops as 'tis ſaid, to Africa.

From Vienna, that an Army of 80,000 Men is deſign'd to be aſſembled near Peterwarad in towards the End of the next Month, to act againſt the Turks: The Diſpoſitions that have been made in relation thereto, have been approv'd of by the Emperor, who, we are aſſur'd, has determin'd that Count Palfi ſhould command the Army in chief; that he ſhould have under him Count Seckendorff, the Prince of Saxe-Hilburghauſen and M. Schmettaw, Generals of the Infantry, and Meſſ. Philip Kevenhuller and Wurmbrand, Generals of the Cavalry.

That the Ruſſian Miniſter there has declar'd by order of her Imperial Majeſty the Czarina, that the Porte having ſhewn a Diſpoſition to enter into a Treaty of Accommodation, ſhe could by no means conſent to ſuch Negotiation, unleſs the Grand Signior will agree to the following Conditions, viz.

To grant to Ruſſia the Perpetual Poſſeſſion of Aſoph, and that the Turks ſhall never raiſe any Fortification in the Neighbourhood of that Place.

That the Porte ſhall reimburſe to Ruſſia the Expences ſhe has been at on account of this Miſunderſtanding.

And that the Ruſſians ſhall be at Liberty to chaſtiſe the Tartars whenever they make Incurſions into their Territories, without its being deem'd a Breach of the Peace ſubſiſting between the two Empires.

Pennſylvania, ſſ. HOPKINSON, Grand Maſter.

WHEREAS ſome ill diſpoſed Perſons in this City, aſſuming the Name of Free-Maſons, have for ſome Years paſt impoſed upon ſeveral well meaning People, who were deſirous of becoming true Brethren, perſuading them, after they had performed certain ridiculous Ceremonies, that they were really become Free-Maſons, and have lately under the Pretence of making a Young Man a Maſon, cauſed his Death, as 'tis ſaid, by Purging, Vomiting, Burning, and the Terror of certain horrid and diabolical Rites. It is thought proper for preventing ſuch Impoſitions for the future, and to avoid any unjuſt Aſperſions that may be thrown on the Ancient and Honourable Fraternity on this Account, either in this City or any other Part of the World, to publiſh this Advertiſement, declaring the Abhorrence of all true Brethren to ſuch Practices in general, and their Innocence of this Fact in particular; and that the Perſons concerned in this wicked Action, are not of our Society, nor of any Society of Free and Accepted Maſons to our Knowledge or Belief. Signed in Behalf of all the Members of St. John's Lodge at Philadelphia, the 16th Day of June, 1737.

THOMAS HOPKINSON, Grand Maſter.
WILL. PLUMSTED, Deputy Maſter.
JOSEPH SHIPPEN, } Grand Wardens.
HENRY PRAT, }

Philadelphia, ſſ. June 15. 1737.

ON the 12th Inſtant was apprehended here an Iriſhman who was juſt come to this City from New-England, where he ſays he arrived from Ireland in Auguſt laſt, and there were found upon him Eight counterfeit Bills made in Imitation of the Five Shilling Bills of Credit of the Province of Pennſylvania, printed in the Year 1729, and ſigned with the Names of JOHN PARRY, ABRAHAM CHAPMAN, EDWARD HORNE, and THOMAS TRESSE, or by three of Them: The Counterfeits are to be diſtinguiſhed by theſe Marks, viz.

The Words Five SHILLINGS on the Top are printed in a larger and bolder Character.

The Capital S in PENNSYLVANIA is ſhorter and its Top lower than the Letters near it.

The F in the Word Five on the Top ſtands over the I in the Word THIS below it. In the true Bills it ſtands over the H of the ſame Word.

The Italick Capital Y in the Word Year is curl'd like this Y (in the true Bills it is plain like this Y.) but much ſmaller.

And the Signers Names are very ill done.

Whoever will diſcover the Perſon or Perſons who counterfeited the ſaid Bills, or the Signers Names to the ſaid Bills; or the Perſon or Perſons who imported the ſaid Counterfeit Bills from Ireland, where it is ſuppoſed they were printed, ſo that the Offenders may be apprehended and convicted, ſhall have a Reward of Fifty Pounds current Money of Pennſylvania.

A. HAMILTON.
